

Hello My Name Is... in Primary Health North West

We were inspired by the #hellomynameis... campaign which started in the UK with Dr Kate Granger. Making sure you introduce yourself is much more than a common courtesy; it is about making a human connection, beginning a therapeutic relationship and building trust.

All staff working within Primary Health Services, Tasmanian Health Services – North West Region, have been given a name badge to wear in addition to their staff ID. It improves communication and connection for patients and staff.

Health Promotion Consultant
Michelle Towle
michelle.towle@ths.tas.gov.au
(03) 6477 7347

Inspiring Health Promotion: Our Stories

What is Inspiring Health Promotion: Our Stories?

Inspiring Health Promotion: Our Stories showcases and shares good examples of health promotion and prevention across THS.

We hear great stories of staff working in health promoting ways across the THS. And we know that better practice happens when we share what works. Stories will be shared in staff newsletters and on the Working in Health Promoting Ways website.

What's your story?

If you've got a story to share or want to know more, contact:

Health Promotion North

healthpromotion.north@ths.tas.gov.au

6777 4590 / 6777 4589

Health Promotion South

healthpromotionsouth@ths.tas.gov.au

6166 6908

Health Promotion North West

michelle.towle@ths.tas.gov.au

6477 7347

jenelle.wells@ths.tas.gov.au

6464 3093